XIX International Small Angle Scattering Conference, SAS2024 Taipei, November 3-8, 2024

Dear Mr./Ms.,

The National Synchrotron Radiation Research Center (NSRRC) is pleased to invite you to the 19th edition of the International Small Angle Scattering Conference (SAS2024) at the Taipei International Convention Center (TICC) in Taipei, Taiwan, from November 3 to 8, 2024. SAS is a triennial conference that aims to bring together worldwide SAS experts to share their experiences. It consists of plenary lectures, several parallel sessions of seminars on selected topics covering diverse scientific fields, poster sessions, and exhibition sessions. In addition to the ongoing discussions, a guided tour at NSRRC will be organized as part of the program.

Taipei is an amazing city, a vibrant and successful blend of traditional culture and modern lifestyle. The conference venue is next to the TAIPEI 101 building, the most striking landmark in Taipei, surrounded by a commercial neighborhood conveniently located near transportation hubs to access major tourist attractions.

SAS2024 expects 400 to 600 delegates to attend. It is an excellent opportunity for your company to interact with academic researchers, PhD students, industry researchers, scientists from large-scale facilities, and manufacturers of SAS equipment/beamlines equipment/X-ray detectors. We have created sponsorship and exhibition opportunities, ensuring you get the right fit and the most return for your input.

Thank you for reading through this proposal. We look forward to welcoming all the SAS2024 attendees in Taipei for a very fulfilling meeting!

Sincerely,

The Local Organizing Committee of SAS2024
